REV. E. R. OVERLEY

Overley to Preach

On next Sunday night Rev. E. R. Overley will preach at the Christian church. Rev. Overley, will no doubt leave the people of this city after he has finished his year, which will be regretted by all, not only his own church regret to give him up, but all denominations of this city have learned to love him, he has made a grand success as Pastor of the First Methodist church and from the time that Rev. J. W. Ligon, pastor of the First Christian church met, they have been as close to each other as was Damon and Pythias.

Rev. Ligon has preached in brother Overley's church and Rev. Overley has preached in brother Ligon's church, and they have been continuously together, not only in the church, but in the Lodgeroom, and upon the streets. We hope that Mrs. Overley will regain her health, and that she will return to us, together with her husband and the family, so that the ties that have bound these good people with our churches will not be severed.

The complete returns of the State shows that Hon. James D. Black was nominated for Lieutenant Governor on the Democratic ticket by a majority of 6500. They tried awfully hard to have Judge Black defeated, for they knew as they know now, that if elected Lieutenant Governor of Kentucky that he will be it, and that when it comes to naming the committees that he will name any that he chooses to name, and that he will name committees that will do things, and not the kind that lets important matters die in the hands of the committees.

New Railroad

It is now a foregone conclusion that the Barbourville and Manchester Railroad is a sure proposition, they are now going right ahead with the grading and building of culverts, and soon will be ready to lay some steel. T. J. Vermillion who has the first five miles of the grade work is working a large crew of men, and they are getting along nicely. We may not be able to get all the way to Manchester this year, but we will get there in early spring.

Prof. B. C. Lewis Grateful to friends for Support.

Barbourville, Ky., Aug. 18, 1915. To the citizens of the 17 Senatorial District:

Because of the unusual conditions under which I have received such expressions of your confidence and support, I feel that I am unusually grateful to you.

I did not get into the campaign until after I closed school near the first of June. And one of my opponents, whose name, fame, and wealth stand for something, was from my own town and County. Also one of my opponents had a letter of indorsement from Congressman Powers of my town and county.

Being poor and unknown as I was, and having these odds to contend with and to combat, and yet receiving your support, as I have, is something for which I am deeply grateful. I consider that the best I can ever do for you will not repay you. I shall certainly give you my best effort.

After the smoke of the primary has cleared away I have "malice toward none, but charity for all" and I believe that the right will finally prevail. I trust this is the sentiment of everyone engaged in the primary. My opponents were kind and gentlemanly toward me. I tried to be to them.

I believe that the people of Ky., as well as of the entire country, are so strong in their demand for a change in the business and political affairs of our state and nation that they are going to help bring it about. I trust that every Republican and all others interested will work together and help to elect Ed Morrow and the entire Republican ticket this fall. Then we may hope for relief.

Trusting that we may make a winning fight this fall, and that I may be able to render you some valuable service. I am Yours very truly, B. C. Lewis.

Leo M. Franks, was taken out of prison and hanged by a mob last Monday night. This was a horrible crime, and is a disgrace to the citizenship of the Grand old State of Georgia, and the guilty should be brought to justice, for the men who participated in that was as guilty of murder as was the man who murdered Mary Phagan.

The daily papers are full of the account, and if this had happened in the State of Kentucky there would have been a greater to do about it than is now, especially had it been done in the Mountains, but, we, the people of the Mountains are fast forging to the front. We have less crime than most any other part of the State, and if we progress in the future as we have in the past, we soon will have wiped crime from the pages of history in this part of State.

The killing of Mary Phagan was a most deplorable crime, but two wrongs does not make a right, you cannot right a wrong by committing another wrong, murder is murder no matter how committed or who commits it. Georgia has had a mob law for a long time, someone said it was because liquor was sold there, that is not it, it is because it is thought by some that it is right to take an eye for an eye or a tooth for a tooth, those days are over. This country ought to leave superstition for better and get on a higher plane of civilization and live under the laws of the State and Nation or else get up and leave it.

REV. J. W. LIGON

The Rev. J. W. Ligon has been recalled to the pastoral of the Christian church at Barbourville, he has made an ideal pastor and his congregation did not hesitate to recall him, it is he, who helped to break down the walls of prejudice among the churches.

A Wilful Murder

On last Friday night about 10 o'clock, George May, a respectable and well to do colored man living near Flat Lick was assassinated while in bed, as we get the news it was like this:

George May, married a woman who had some grown up sons, and that May and her sons had had some differences, which terminated in the shooting of May by one of the Tinsley boys, his step son, who was indicted for this crime, and required to fill a bond to keep the peace, and in default of that bond was sent to jail to await the September term of Court. His brother was here Friday and attempted to fill a bond for Kelley Tinsley, and failing to do so he returned to his home, borrowed a shot gun, bought some cartridges and slipped to the window where May had undressed and laid down upon the bed. Tinsley thrust the gun through the window and shot May to death. The officers were notified and went to the scene and arrested the murderer and he is now in jail awaiting the Grand Jury which is in session. It is said that the officers have positive proof that Tinsley did the killing.

A full line of Birth Stone rings now on display at D. C. Payne's Jewellery store. Our increased sales have proven that our customers certainly appreciate good goods at nominal prices, and the way our reconstructed stone rings and cameos have sold during the past year proves the correctness of our judgement as to the style of rings which are going to sell best.

During the coming year men's rings especially are going to be in big demand, these will be set with "Hellers" reconstructed rubies, genuine amethysts, genuine opals, and in the ladies rings, pink shell cameos and Coral cameos will be worn a great deal. All these are shown in the birth stone rings at our store. Don't fail to see them.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Geo. Tye was hostess at a most charming dinner party. Those present were the Misses Lytle, Posey, Sandusky, Clelland, Cole, Black, Sammon, Mrs. Rathfan, Mrs. Cobb, and Misses Jewel and Drucilla Tye.

H. H. Bain, representing the W. L. Swain Show Company is here this week signing some contracts and doing some bill posting, preparatory to the coming of the big dramatic show which will be here Fair week, August 30th. to September 3th.
